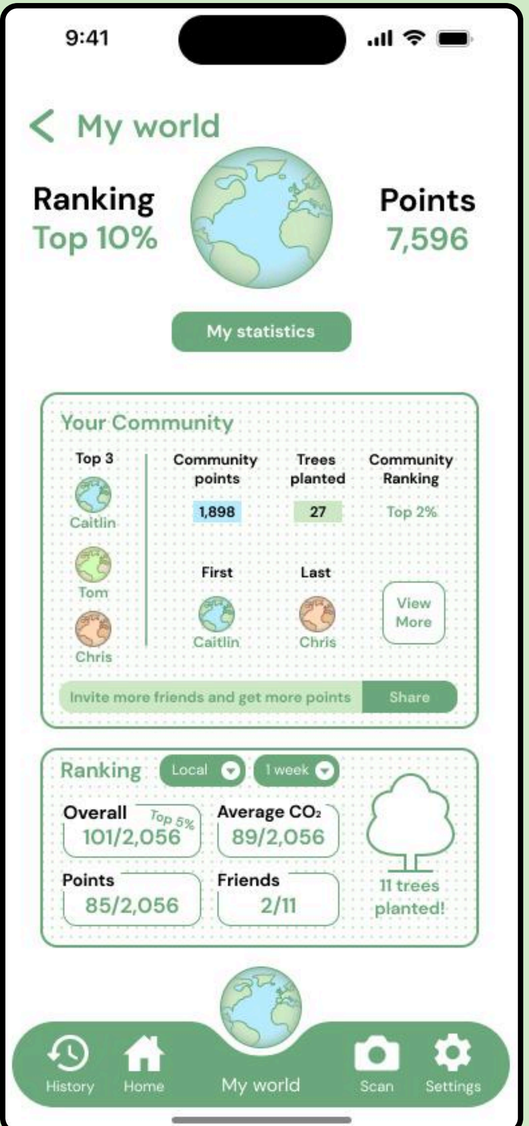
08 Social aspect



I want to make the experience both fun and social. This is why I have designed a way for the user to see their world compared to their friends. This makes the experience feel more social and connected which drives the feeling of community.

Furthermore, I have added a ranking system where the player can see where they place locally, regionally and globally. This presents a more competitive aspect driving people to both use the app more and reduce their CO_2 usage.